

Family Law

Tough on the Problem - Respect for the client

Divorce and other family problems are tough. No doubt about it. In a family law dispute or a divorce, the focus can very easily slip off the problem faced by the parties and onto the people themselves. When this happens, a lot of energy and money may get wasted fixing the blame instead of the problem. At Ricketts, Harris we work hard on the problem but we are sensitive to the client's needs. This means treating our clients with respect. We help them to make good decisions about their children, their finances, their property and other important matters. Our experienced team means results and cost effectiveness.

At Ricketts, Harris, our team of lawyers and support staff are experienced in all aspects of family law and divorce. Whether you are in need of a separation agreement, a marriage contract or cohabitation agreement, pension or other property division, exclusive possession of the home, restraining orders, child custody and access assistance, spousal or child support, a change of name, paternity help, child protection, adoption or a divorce, we know how to get results. Our team offers full service including mediation of disputes.

Before you start a new relationship, Ricketts, Harris can advise you concerning marriage contracts, common law and same sex issues and the appropriate steps to protect the interests of all those involved.

For additional information on this subject, please contact Tracy C. Warne, Q.C. , Robert D. Preston, Joel G. Miller, Michael G. Cochrane, Ibi V. Olabode or Elizabeth C. Mourao.

